

Product Guide

Kim Hoshal Photography has done away with the typical session fee. For our Urban and Artisan Adventure Sessions, 100% of your reservation retainer will now magically transform into a product credit. For the Destination and Puppy Adventure Sessions, an album and product credit are included, however if you choose to skip the album 100% of your reservation retainer will be a product credit.

The best place to start any adventure is with the goal in mind. Planning for what product you might like to purchase before any photographs are taken is like planning your route on a map before taking a trip. When I know how you might like to display your images, it lets me customize your photo session. You don't need to have all of the answers right now, but for example if you have a really skinny wall and you think you are going to want wall art then I will shoot in a portrait orientation versus a landscape orientation.

Create your custom collection that you want with three easy steps.

1. Select a wall art piece 16x20 or larger.
2. Select 2 other products of your choosing.
3. Save 25% on your purchase.

If you want more freedom you can shop a la carte.

I source my products from some of the finest labs in the industry. For that reason, all of your artwork comes with a 100% satisfaction guarantee.

Now let's create some beautiful artwork to celebrate your furry family members.

Product Guide

High Resolution Digitals

We live in a digital age, so it makes sense that you might want digital files. While these do make a nice addition to an artwork purchase and allow you the choice of printing them whenever you choose, if you're anything like me, you will likely not print them -- Full disclosure: I have thousands of images on my hard drives that are in addition to the ones that I have actually printed.

Digital images alone really can't match the impact and excitement you receive from seeing your furry family member on an exquisite piece of artwork.

Please note, all clients do receive a social media file of any image they purchase.
